Quinteto Astor Piazzolla

Astor Piazzolla was a master of the bandoneon, the sensual, melancholic button squeezebox that gives tango so much of its distinctive sound. But Piazzolla's instrument was the quintet.

He organized his first quintet in 1960, after returning to Buenos Aires from a short-lived attempt to settle in New York City, the place where he had spent his childhood. Perhaps a summation of his musical history and interests, Piazzolla's quintet — bandoneon, violin, acoustic bass, piano, and electric guitar — suggested a hybrid of a jazz band, a chamber music group, and a small tango orchestra. It was also a practical alternative to the large tango ensembles he had led, such as his early Orquesta Tipica and the Octeto Buenos Aires, a superb octet that couldn't find work even if artistically a success.

Piazzolla led two prominent quintets throughout his career, one from 1960 to 1971 and a second from 1978 to 1988. Even accounting for a few changes over the years, Piazzolla worked with a stable core group of musicians, which allowed him to take chances in his music and write for specific players, not just instruments. His first quintet was crucial in his development of Nuevo Tango. His second quintet, assembled in 1978 and dissolved in 1988, honed his earlier works to a gleam and allowed Piazzolla to stretch out as a performer and composer. During that time, Piazzolla cemented and expanded his global reputation and created masterpieces such as La Camorra, his last studio album featuring the quintet.

After Piazzolla's passing in 1992, his widow, Laura Escalada Piazzolla, created the Astor Piazzolla Foundation to preserve and promote his artistic legacy. The Quinteto Astor Piazzolla, named in tribute to the original ensemble, was established in 1998.

Featuring various lineups since, the Quinteto has toured the United States, Latin America, Europe, and Asia; recorded five full-length albums, Revolucionario, which won Latin Grammy for Best Tango Album of 2019, Fugata, En 3x4, Triunfal and Operation Tango.

The current Quinteto Astor Piazzolla comprises Pablo Mainetti, bandoneon, Barbara Varassi Pega, piano, Serdar Geldymuradov, violin, Armando de la Vega, guitar, Daniel Falasca, double bass, and Julián Vat, musical director.

The new album, Operation Tango, released on March 17 2023, marks a departure from previous efforts. The repertoire comprises pieces not written originally by Piazzolla for quintet now arranged for this ensemble.

The Small Glories

Royce Hall Terrace

Roots duo The Small Glories is a powerhouse musical partnership between veteran folk singers Cara Luft and JD Edwards. Delivering songs of love, loss and the natural environment with soaring vocals and the traditional instrumentation of stomping clawhammer banjo, guitar and harmonica, The Small Glories have an intimate performing style that makes audiences feel like they're on stage.

"Some things just work together: the Lennon and McCartney syndrome – and to witness a performance by The Small Glories is a rare opportunity to experience that indefinable quality that creates perfection..."

— David Allen, Americana UK

Opening fall 2023

There is no room for racism, intolerance, or inequity.

Anywhere

Not on our stages, in our offices, on our loading docks, in the box office lines, or on the dance floor.

With anyone

Not with our staff, crew, artists, volunteers, ushers, audiences or fans.

We uphold and embrace principles of antiracism, equity, diversity and AUTHENTIC inclusion as integral to our mission.

We must EMPOWER the historically underrepresented.

We must UPLIFT excluded voices.

We must RESIST structural racism.

We will COMMIT fiercely to our responsibility to observe, absorb, consider, contemplate, endure, share and engage in this change.

We STAND AGAINST all forms of discrimination.

We will STRIVE to make our organization more equitable and inclusive.

As part of UCLA's School of Art & Architecture (SOAA), we — UCLA's Center for the Art of Performance (CAP UCLA) and Theater Management Services (TMS) — are committed to connecting and creating space for the arts and for all communities.

We acknowledge our organizations' histories as being predominantly white institutions. We are facing uncomfortable truths about systemic racism as we work to make the deep changes necessary to transform the organizational dynamics in our work culture and business practices and dismantle existing oppressive structures. We know there will be shortcomings, which we will face head on. We commit to continually addressing and adapting to changes as they arise. It is only in an improved, supportive work environment that everyone can be fully present, and respected as their true authentic selves.

This statement was drafted by a committee of staff members from both the Center for the Art of Performance and Theater Management Services, from a variety of backgrounds, viewpoints and perspectives.

Together we stand with UCLA's School of Art and Architecture's EDI statement.

Special Thanks

As we continue to recover from the COVID-19 pandemic, CAP UCLA would like to acknowledge the critical support we received from a Shuttered Venue Operators Grant. This historic initiative — part of the American Rescue Fund Act passed by Congress in March 2021 — represents a significant commitment to the arts and a recognition of the value of the arts and culture sector to the nation's economy and recovery. We would especially like to thank members of Congress who supported the inclusion of university-based performing arts centers and helped make this vital funding possible.
