The Nimoy
WELCOME TO THE 2023–24 SEASON

UCLA’s Center for the Art of Performance (CAP UCLA) is dedicated to the advancement of the contemporary performing arts in all disciplines — dance, music, spoken word and theater, as well as emerging digital, collaborative and cross cultural platforms — by leading artists from around the globe.

Our mission aligns with UCLA’s mission of education, research and civic engagement by providing cultural and experiential programs that provoke inquiry and facilitate connection and creativity.

cap.ucla.edu
Dear audience:

I want to thank each and every one of you: the UCLA leadership and staff, our newly appointed Artistic Director at UCLA’s Center of the Art of Performance (CAP UCLA), Edgar Miramontes, the former Artistic Director Kristy Edmunds, family and friends in helping to make The Nimoy theater a reality.

My late husband, Leonard Nimoy, believed that art, music, dance and spoken word had the power to change lives. He had a passion for the theater in particular. Unlike film and television, theater is a high-wire act: there are no second takes, no zooms, no over-the-shoulders, no “let’s go again.” Theater unfolds like life. One gives it their best shot moment to moment, in the hope that it lands and resonates.

I hope that you consider becoming a part of The Nimoy’s future and supporting its programs. There are areas of the theater yet unnamed, such as the main lobby, the bar, the upper lobby, and the artist’s entrance, as well as our campaign to have seats in the theater named for family and friends.

Thank you all for going on this journey and celebrating together this momentous occasion. Keep coming back. May the UCLA Nimoy Theater, “Live Long and Prosper.”

With a full heart,

SCREENING OF WE’LL BE SINGING BY SEPTEMBER

En Septiembre Canta el Gallo: a documentary by Nano Stern and Luis Emilio Briceño. Musician Nano Stern and filmmaker Luis Emilio Briceño portray the generation of young people who revolutionized Chilean song from 1958 to 1973. The film features interviews with twenty artists and musicians, exploring the cultural phenomenon of the Nueva Canción from multiple angles, and how it came to define a generation that changed the course of Chile’s national music.

Please join us after the screening for a post-show discussion with Nano Stern, Juliana Espinal and Cristián Mora.

Juliana Espinal holds a Ph.D. in Hispanic Languages and Literatures from the University of California, Los Angeles, and an MA in Philosophy from Universidad Nacional de Colombia. Her areas of study encompass 20th/21st century Latin American literature, visual culture, philosophy, and political theory. A notable focus of her research is the intricate interplay between contemporary cultural production, violence, and memory studies.

Cristián Mora is a Ph.D. candidate in the Hispanic Languages & Literatures program at the University of California, Los Angeles. He is from Chile, where he received his B.A. in Journalism from the Pontificia Universidad Católica in 2012, and in 2018 he obtained his Master’s degree in Film & Media Studies from the Washington University in St. Louis. As a journalist, he has worked for the Chilean newspaper El Mercurio and for a couple of cultural institutions. Also, he is the co-founder of the digital magazine entrance.cl. His research interests are centered on Latin American culture, with a special emphasis on the representation of old age in contemporary Chilean cinema and literature.

BIOGRAPHY

“Nano Stern is the best Chilean songwriter of his generation with his lyrics, melodies, message, humor and heart” — Joan Baez

Singer/songwriter Nano Stern is a Chilean artist riding the crest of the new wave of Chilean Song, with a devoted following that stretches out from Chile, into Latin America, north to Mexico, Canada and the USA, over to Europe and down in Australia. His musical virtuosity, mesmerizing and charismatic live performances and his passionate and poetic advocacy for social justice result in a true and honest universal message, delivered with an intense energy and a high level of musicality, dwelling deeply into tradition whilst being contemporary with the passion of youth.

Nano’s style is an indie-folk-rock-jazz fusion; deeply rooted in traditional Chilean music and inspired by legends Violeta Parra, Victor Jara, Quilapayún, Illapu and Inti-Illimani, yet combined with a host of influences absorbed from his travels around the world, as well as his early classical training. Added to the mix is a love for rock, which results in a truly unique sound, the whole becoming greater than the sum of the parts. Stern is an accomplished musician, playing a range of instruments from Spanish and electric guitars and violin to the Andean and Nordic flutes. Not to be underrated is the power and emotion that emanates from his vocal prowess and his intimate and rousing connection to his audiences, at home in Chile and across the world.

Stern’s rise to fame has been meteoric, with a recording career spanning ten years that includes five award winning and critically acclaimed solo albums, a live solo album from Australia, a DVD and collaborations with Swedish guitar master Mattias Perez (“Otoñal”) and youth folk super group Ethno in Transit. In 2011, Nano emerged as a producer of an award-winning album for Australian world and folk legend, Kavisha Mazella and in 2012 was invited to compose and record a song for Chilean cultural icon Inti Illimani. In 2014 Nano released San Diego 850, a live two CD/DVD set from his November 2013 concert at the Teatro Caupolicán [Santiago, Chile]. In 2015 Nano released his 5th studio album, Mil 500 Vueltas, featuring guests Jorge Drexler and Joan Baez. The CD immediately became number one on iTunes Chile and went Gold in September 2015.

Nano’s stature in Chile has risen to the point of being woven into Chile’s cultural history. His albums sit at the top of the download charts and have received unanimous critical praise. He fills theatres and halls across the country, performs at Chile’s biggest festivals and is a consistently intelligent and compassionate voice in the national media. In 2013, Nano was invited to perform for the fortieth anniversary of the death of Victor Jara, recording Jara’s most famous song, ‘Lo único que tengo’ on the university campus where Victor Jara was captured.
Nano Stern has attracted a dedicated following wherever he goes, from the smallest local communities in the southern most human settlement of Patagonia to the biggest stages and festivals in Chile, Argentina, Colombia, Mexico and Uruguay. At the 2015 Festival Viña del Mar (Chile) his set ran between Cat Stevens and Oscar de León and has given rousing performances at Lollapalooza Chile and WOMAD Chile. In Australia, he has consistently been the stand-out performer at leading festivals, including WOMADelaide and the Woodford, Port Fairy and Brunswick festivals. While in Europe, Nano has gone from barefoot hitchhiking through Ethno gatherings to the festival stages of WOMAD UK, Sziget (Hungary), Bardentreffen (Germany), Kaustinen (Finland), Viljandi (Estonia), Sfinks (Belgium), Urkult (Sweden) among others.

Since Nano’s USA debut performances at SXSW in March 2014, he has toured solo and with his trio to festivals and performing arts centers across Canada and the United States. These include ‘Globalquerque’ & the National Hispanic Center, Albuquerque; Chicago’s Old Town School of Folk Music and World Music Festival; Lincoln Center Outdoors, Joe’s Pub, City Winery, New York City; California WorldFest, Grass Valley; the LEAF Festival, Asheville (NC); SunFest, London (ON); Koerner Hall, Toronto (ON); Thalian Hall, Wilmington (NC); Queens College (NY); Villa Victoria, Boston; NC State University, Raleigh; the Lotus Festival, Bloomington (IN); University of Vermont, Bucknell University (PA); UCLA and Stanford University (CA); and ASU Kerr Cultural Center, Scottsdale (AZ).

In 2016, Nano Stern celebrated ten years of his musical journey.
He began the year in style January 27th when Joan Baez invited Nano to celebrate her 75th birthday at New York’s Beacon Theatre with some of her oldest friends: Paul Simon, Jackson Brown, Judy Collins, Richard Thompson, Damien Rice, Mavis Staples, Emmylou Harris, Indigo Girls and David Bromberg. The concert was recorded and aired by New York’s Channel 13 for the PBS program Great Performances. Also in 2016, Nano premiered the vinyl edition of Mil 500 Vueltas with two concerts at the Teatro Oriente (Santiago), embarked on his first tour of Spain, returned to Argentina and toured the United States and Canada twice. Nano launched his songbook, Cancionero (thirty eight songs with illustrations by Sol Díaz) with three concerts at the Nescafé Theater of the Arts, Santiago.

In 2017, Nano returned to Spain including Café Berlín (Madrid) and Festival Barnasants (Barcelona). His songbook, Cancionero was published, and promoted on a solo tour throughout Chile performing on ten instruments including Spanish, folk, Scandinavian and electric guitars, piano, violin, flutes, charango and nyckelharpa. In August 2017, Nano curated his fourth annual winter festival “Brotes de Invierno” at the renowned Centro Cultural Gabriela Mistral (Santiago) with featured guests Natalia Contesse (Chile), Magdalena Matthey (Chile), Omar Camino (Peru) and the master poet and improviser Alexis Diaz Pimienta from Havana, Cuba. With his trio he toured North America three times - highlights being the Clearwater Festival, the great Hudson River Revival (NY), the Kennedy Center’s Millennium Stage, Boston, Bing Studio, Stanford University, Palais Montcalm, Quebec, his debut at Musical Instrument Museum in Phoenix and a co-bill with Inti-Illimani at Koerner Hall in Toronto. 2017 also marked the 100th anniversary of Chilean legend Violeta Parra with Nano headlining at the festival in Santiago on her anniversary, October 4th. He also performed a symphonic concert in Temuco in September.

In January 2018, Nano Stern released his EP Santiago, live at the Teatro Nescafe. Santiago is an experimental work in which Nano immersed himself completely in the whole creative process performing all the instruments. In May 2018, he released Lucero, co-produced with Tony Platt (known for his work with AC/DC, Cheap Trick, Bob Marley, Iron Maiden, Buddy Guy and Foreigner).

2018 and 2019 saw tours of Australia, Argentina (including his debut at the Cosquín Folk Festival, one of the most important folk festivals of Argentina), New Zealand, Europe, the USA (making his debut in Los Angeles with CAP UCLA at the Theatre at the ACE Hotel), Mexico and Canada, as well as numerous concerts throughout Chile. With the fifth anniversary of the Brotes de Invierno Nano extends the Santiago based festival to Concepcion with guest artists Marta Gómez, winner of a 2014 Latin Grammy (Columbia), Manu Sija (Argentina), Benjamín Walker and Vicente Cifuentesson (Chile).

In 2020, Nano released two singles: ‘Regalé mis ojos (I gave away my eyes),’ written during his Australian tour mid-November 2019, dedicated to Gustavo Gatica, a twenty-one-year-old psychology student who was permanently blinded after receiving shots to both eyes during a peaceful protest in downtown Santiago. The video of the song went viral, reaching over a million plays within the first month on all social media platforms.

The other single, ‘Ojo por Ojo (eye for an eye)’ “was a very hard song written at a very hard time, during the long curfew nights in early November 2019,” stated Nano.

During the pandemic Nano Stern concentrated on composing, creating videos and virtual performances, among them an eight-part course entitled “A Journey Through the Music of the World” presented by the University of Connecticut, Storrs.

Nano’s seventh studio recording Aún Creo en la belleza was released in 2022 along with the publication of his first collection of decimas poetry. Of the recording, Tony Hillier from WeekEnd Australian wrote “The maestro’s ultra-soulful singing and virtuosity on guitar and violin is never less than mesmeric.”

Aún creo en la belleza features thirteen songs and the collaboration of three important guest artists: Raly Barrionuevo (Argentina), Omar Camino (Peru) and Magdalena Matthey (Chile). Of the recording, Stern points out that “it has an eclectic sound that relates to abstract realities, many of which are not dependent on the overwhelming urgency of everyday life in the past years.” He adds, “the overall feeling of the album is a result of the long months of quarantine; and the instruments that give the album its color are those that live with me in my home.”

In 2023, as the world commemorates fifty years since the coup d’état in Chile, Nano Stern revisits the songs of legendary folk singer Víctor Jara, who personifies the spirit of the day through his timeless music and poetry. With austere virtuosity, Stern gives new breath to this immortal repertoire.

Nano is currently touring throughout Europe and North and South America in support of his newest recording Nano Stern Canta A Víctor Jara and presents the documentary En Septiembre Canta el Gallo produced by himself and filmmaker Luis Emilio Briceño. From the impact of the figure of Violeta Parra to the creation of pieces such as the Cantata Santa María de Iquique, the documentary portrays the generation of young people who revolutionized Chilean song from 1958 to 1973. Without glorification or condescension, but with honesty and, above all, with a genuine interest in telling their story.

We uphold and embrace principles of antiracism, equity, diversity and AUTHENTIC inclusion as integral to our mission.

We must EMPOWER the historically underrepresented.

We must UPLIFT excluded voices.

We must RESIST structural racism.

We will COMMIT fiercely to our responsibility to observe, absorb, consider, contemplate, endure, share and engage in this change.

We STAND AGAINST all forms of discrimination.

We will STRIVE to make our organization more equitable and inclusive.

As part of UCLA’s School of Art & Architecture (SOAA), we – UCLA’s Center for the Art of Performance (CAP UCLA) and Theater Management Services (TMS) – are committed to connecting and creating space for the arts and for all communities.

We acknowledge our organizations’ histories as being predominantly white institutions. We are facing uncomfortable truths about systemic racism as we work to make the deep changes necessary to transform the organizational dynamics in our work culture and business practices and dismantle existing oppressive structures. We know there will be shortcomings, which we will face head on. We commit to continually addressing and adapting to changes as they arise. It is only in an improved, supportive work environment that everyone can be fully present, and respected as their true authentic selves.
