WELCOME TO THE 2023–24 SEASON

UCLA’s Center for the Art of Performance (CAP UCLA) is dedicated to the advancement of the contemporary performing arts in all disciplines — dance, music, spoken word and theater, as well as emerging digital, collaborative and cross cultural platforms — by leading artists from around the globe.

Our mission aligns with UCLA’s mission of education, research and civic engagement by providing cultural and experiential programs that provoke inquiry and facilitate connection and creativity.

CAP UCLA’S new home for live performance

It’s an honor and a privilege to welcome you to CAP UCLA’s stunning new home for the performing arts: the UCLA Nimoy Theater. Through our diverse programs, and by providing vital opportunities for artists and partner organizations to develop contemporary work, The Nimoy is poised to make a lasting contribution to the performing arts, UCLA and our Los Angeles communities.

The Nimoy’s inaugural season launches with an interdisciplinary array of projects by influential and groundbreaking local, national and international artists. Together they will share their unique perspectives and crucial visions, creating an opportunity for our audiences to see the world in different and extraordinary ways.

This is your invitation to experience the beauty of sitting in a dark theater, among strangers or loved ones illuminated by the possibilities of the imagination. In this shared space, through the power of the arts, our ideas are challenged and our horizons are broadened — we are transformed.

I look forward to seeing you at The Nimoy!

ABOUT THE PERFORMANCE

These Are the Ones We Fell Among is a one-hour stage-based duet performance that takes inspiration from the movements, myths and metaphors of our non-human cousins – from our most endangered marine mammal, the vaquita, to our largest land mammal, the elephant. Made virtually during the pandemic, this duet invites viewers into a world reminiscent of Samuel Becket’s renderings and Dr. Seuss’s over rhymes. From Carlson’s poignant sense of humor, coupled with a nod to the absurd, this performance wrestles with the ongoing senseless loss on our planet.

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Ann Carlson is an interdisciplinary artist whose work borrows from the disciplines of dance and performance as well as visual, conceptual and social art practices. Her work often dismantles conventional boundaries between artist and subject. Carlson works in a series format, discreet works that are loosely organized into Animals series (interspecies performance collaborations) that to date has included performances with dogs, chickens, kittens, turtle, goats, sheep, two works with horses and a collaboration with a dairy cow. The People series (dance/performance works made with and performed by people gathered together by a common profession, activity or shared passion) has included dances made with and performed by lawyers, security officers, nuns, anglers, teachers, custodians, physicians, gardeners, development directors and poker players. And a Projects series (large scale site specific performance installations, commissioned works for dance companies, galleries, museums, orchestras and collaborative performance video.)

Carlson’s work as a whole is engaged with flattening traditional hierarchies, and throwing off the guardrails of who gets access to participate and be immersed in the contemporary dance/art experience. Carlson builds conceptual frameworks that adapt and tour to multiple sites over a period of years, resulting in numerous iterations of a central strategy that culminates in live performance; recent examples are The Symphonic Body, an orchestral work made entirely of gestures (part of the People series) and Doggie Hamlet, a live performance spectacle in collaboration with herding dogs, sheep, and human performers, (part of the Animals series). Carlson works from a “world as studio” approach, cultivating and curating the elements of everyday life as a way of exploring how to be together, how to be alone, in a world bound by and blended with the more-than-human.

Carlson is the recipient of numerous awards for her artistic work including a Creative Capital Award, a Doris Duke Award for Performing Artists, a National Dance Project Award, two American Masters awards, a USA Artist Fellowship, a Guggenheim Fellowship, a New York Foundation for the Arts Fellowship, a Fellowship from the Foundation for Contemporary Art and numerous awards from the National Endowment for the Arts. Ann is a recent recipient of a Fellowship from the Santa Monica Arts Council, and was the first person to be honored with the Cal/Arts Alpert Award in dance.

Carlson has had a decades long collaboration with video maker/cultural scholar Mary Ellen Strom. Their performance video work is held in the public collections of Fonds Regional D’Art Contemporaire (FRAC) in Marseilles, France, The Museum of Fine Arts Boston, The DeCordova Museum and Sculpture Park in Lincoln, Massachusetts and The Rose Museum at Brandeiss University in Waltham, Massachusetts. Carlson/Strom was awarded The St. Garden’s Prize in sculpture for their video, “Four Parallel lines”. They are currently collaborating on a performance video installation, “Sink or Sing” that addresses rising sea levels around the globe.

Carlson has been a visiting faculty member at numerous universities, among them, Wesleyan, Stanford and Princeton University and currently is an adjunct professor at UCLA’s Dept. of World, Arts, Culture and Dance. Carlson lives in Santa Monica, California. anncarlsondance.com

Shinichi Iova-Koga (performer) serves as the Artistic Director of the dance theater company inkBoat, founded by Shinichi in 1998. He has toured in North America, Europe, South Korea and Japan, often collaborating with local artists in museums, theaters, studios and site-specific locations.

He is the editor of the book 95 Rituals, a tribute to Anna Halprin, and a contributing writer to The Routledge Companion to Butoh Performance. He is featured in the book Butoh America.

Shinichi teaches annually at ImpulsTanz in Vienna. He has served as a full time core faculty member of the MFA Dance program at Mills College in Oakland, California, from 2009 to 2017.

He has taught Composition in the Arts for MFA students at UC Davis in 2014 and 2022. He has taught workshops at Bath University (U.K.), UC Riverside, UC Berkeley, Lucerne University of Applied Sciences and Arts (Switzerland), Stanford University, SF State University, Experimental Theater Wing at NYU/Tisch, Texas Women’s University, University of Nevada, Reno and others. He co-teaches the workshop “Dance on Land” and multi-month workshops with his wife Dana Iova-Koga. Shinichi’s training began with Judo at age 8 with his father, Yuzo Koga, a 6-time USA Judo champion.
His martial arts training continues in the Daoist Internal Arts (Qi Gong, Dao Yin, Yang Sheng Gong and Nei Gong). He is credentialed to teach through Lotus Nei Gong International and is a San Feng Pai lineage holder with Wudang West. He holds a 2nd degree black belt in Aikido (with teachers Jan Nevelius, Jorma Lily and Cornelius Jaeger-Herzog).

Ruth Zaporah has been his continuing mentor since 2000. Her method of improvisational skill building is called Action Theater (Shinichi is an Authorized Action Theater™ Teacher). Significant past mentors are Ralph Lemon, who instigated ideas about “anti-dance,” and Anna Halprin, who encouraged community building through the art-making process. Shinichi served as Anna’s associate director for numerous projects from 2009-2012 and co-taught dances for men with her until 2018.

Another notable collaborator is Ann Carlson, who has worked with inkBoat as a guest director from 2019 - present. Additionally, Shinichi has co-created numerous performances with music groups Rova Saxophone Quartet and Sleepytime Gorilla Museum. As a guest Director, he has created stage works with AXIS Dance Company and ODC Dance Company. As a dancer, he has been a member of the Russian Dance Theater company Do Theatre (2003-2005) and Larry Reed’s Shadowlight Theater (1993-1997). inkBoat and Shinichi have been honored by awards and grants, including six Bay Area “Izzie” awards. Shinichi works primarily in San Francisco, New York and Luzern, Switzerland.

Dana Iova-Koga (Performer) is a mover, maker, teacher, mother and shapeshifter who enjoys exploring the relationship between the deep interior spaces of the body, and the outer landscape. She graduated from the Experimental Theater Wing of NYU, then went on to live and work for several years with Min Tanaka on his farm in Japan, where she danced in dozens of productions under his direction. She joined inkBoat in 2005 and has been involved in many inkBoat productions since that time. She offers a mentorship program called “Unfolding” in which she acts as supportive trail guide for others in their own processes of creativity and problem solving. She teaches “Dance on Land” annually with Shinichi. With herbalist, tracker and mover Frieda Kipar Bay she is currently developing “Elemental Vessel” a collection of physical and creative practices, which includes Body Weather, Qi Gong, Improvisation and interlacements with the environment. She is deeply grateful to and inspired by Ann and continually delighted at how this piece manages to fit into our ever-changing lives. danaiovakoga.net

Carla Kihlstedt (Composer) is an improviser, songwriter, singer, violinist, producer, composer and educator. She is a founding member of the bands Sleepytime Gorilla Museum, Tin Hat, The Book of Knots, Minamo, 2 Foot Yard and Cosa Brava. She enjoys writing large-scale collaborative song cycles that pull from her many musical influences and use song form to explore a single idea from different angles — a set of songs about the ocean, dreams, imaginary creatures, machines, quarantine, and the U.S. Constitution. She has written for the ROVA Saxophone Quartet, the International Contemporary Ensemble, the San Francisco Girls Chorus, the Brooklyn Youth Chorus, Variant 6 and the Dither Guitar Orchestra. Her recent work, including Black Inscription (written with Matthias Bossi and Jeremy Flower), and her upcoming international treble chorus project, Long for This World, investigate our connection to the natural world. Carla is on the faculty of the Contemporary Improvisation Department of the New England Conservatory, the MFA in Composition program at the Vermont College of Fine Arts, and the Creative Gesture Lab for composers and choreographers at the Banff Centre for Arts and Creativity. She lives on Cape Cod, MA with her partner and their two kids. She is a member of the Climate Reality Leadership Corps. Her band, Rabbit Rabbit Radio, releases a song on the first day of every month to their subscribers at rabbitrabbitradio.bandcamp.com.

Shahzad Ismaily (Composer) is a failed do-Gooder. You know what’s it’s like when you try too much? Late in life, now-ish, he learned the lesson, ‘do less, and do it better.’ Also featuring, ‘don’t settle, aim for someone you love spending time with.’ Once when he was on tour In Japan, playing Blue Note Tokyo, a bookmark was for sale at the merchandising table, ‘take trips with people you enjoy, people you love.’ Whew, that’s a doozy isn’t it. Good luck to all of us out there; that is, the robots are about to kill us. If you read this bio backwards, it says, ‘shahzad ismaily is a auto didactic musician, composer, performer and louse. He’s worked with the great people. If he named them you’d be piqued to know more about him. Ah well . . .’

Allen Willner (inkBoat Lighting Designer) is proud to have designed the premiere of These Are The Ones We Fell Among, his eleventh inkBoat production. He has been designing lights for over twenty five years for a wide variety of music, theater and dance artists. Awards include: TBA Lighting Design: inkBoat and We Player’s Beowulf, Shotgun Players Eurydice, Theater of Yugen’s This Lingering Life, SF Playhouse The Obligation. Bay Area Critics Circle Lighting Design God’s Ear, Isadora Duncan Dance Design Awards for inkBoat’s Line Between, inkBoat’s Heaven’s Radio and Deborah Slater Dance Theater’s Private Life.

Amy Rathbone (Fabricator / Scenic Elements) often makes small marks on large walls that typically include wind, refracting light and some humor if it’s available. She is always honored to be brought on as a collaborator with inkBoat.

inkBoat researches the interplay of multiple artistic disciplines and viewpoints, drawing primarily from the Japanese performing and martial arts, improvisational arts and Daoist internal arts. inkBoat stage works border dance, performance art and theater, and inhabit theaters, museums, streets and abandoned spaces.

inkBoat creates performance works for the public through a collaborative artistic process. We support professional growth of students and performers in San Francisco and abroad through mentorship, classes and workshops for professionals and beginners.

inkBoat has been awarded 6 Isadora Duncan Awards: 2021’s “These are the Ones We Fell Among,” with guest director/creator Ann Carlson, received Outstanding Achievement in Company Performance; 2015’s “95 Rituals” received a Special Award; 2011’s “Line Between” received Outstanding Achievement in Visual Design; 2008’s “c(H)ord” received Outstanding Achievement in Company Performance; 2004’s “Ame to Ame” received Outstanding Achievement in Company Performance; and 2003’s “Heavens’ Radio” received Outstanding Achievement in Visual Design.

inkBoat has been presented by numerous venues, including Yerba Buena Center for the Arts (SF), ODC Theater (SF), CounterPulse (SF), Seattle International Arts Festival, San Francisco International Arts Festival, Südpol (Switzerland), Seoul International Dance Festival (Korea), Japan Society (NY), Red Cat (LA), Vancouver Dance Festival (Canada), Dock 11 (Berlin), Fabrik Potsdam (Germany), Schloss Bröllin (Germany), Kunsthaus Graz (Austria), Southern Theater (MN), University of California (Riverside), Highways (Santa Monica), Painted Bride (Philadelphia), Divadlo Disc (Prague), Plan B (Tokyo) and Die Pratze (Tokyo).

Dreamers’ Circus
Fri, Oct 13 at 8 pm
The Nimoy

Dreamers’ Circus has emerged as a youthful, driving force in world music. Pairing adventurous attitude with outstanding musicianship, the trio of Nikolaj Busk, Ale Carr, and Rune Tonsgaard Sørensen inventively reinterpret Nordic folk music into something entirely their own.

“They ranged gleefully through brisk Scandinavian dances...before celebrating their mutual culinary enthusiasms with Kitchen Stories, fiddle, accordion and cittern ebbing and flowing with unadulterated zest.” – The Scotsman

CAP UCLA has a new home for live performance in Westwood!

Located near the UCLA campus on Westwood Boulevard, The Nimoy is a reimagining of the historic Crest Theatre as a flexible, state-of-the-art performance space.

This dynamic and intimately scaled venue immerses audiences in a profoundly engaging experience of live performance — while providing contemporary performing artists from Los Angeles and around the world expanded opportunities to develop and present new work.

We at UCLA’s Center for the Art of Performance acknowledge the Gabrielino/Tongva peoples as the traditional land caretakers of Tovaangar (the Los Angeles basin and South Channel Islands).

As a land grant institution, we pay our respects to the Ancestors (Honuukvetam), Elders (Ahihirom), and relatives/relations (Eyooinkem) past, present and emerging.
There is no room for racism, intolerance, or inequity.

Anywhere
Not on our stages, in our offices, on our loading docks, in the box office lines, or on the dance floor.

With anyone
Not with our staff, crew, artists, volunteers, ushers, audiences or fans.
We uphold and embrace principles of antiracism, equity, diversity and AUTHENTIC inclusion as integral to our mission.
We must EMPOWER the historically underrepresented.
We must UPLIFT excluded voices.
We must RESIST structural racism.
We will COMMIT fiercely to our responsibility to observe, absorb, consider, contemplate, endure, share and engage in this change.
We STAND AGAINST all forms of discrimination.
We will STRIVE to make our organization more equitable and inclusive.

As part of UCLA’s School of Art & Architecture (SOAA), we — UCLA’s Center for the Art of Performance (CAP UCLA) and Theater Management Services (TMS) — are committed to connecting and creating space for the arts and for all communities.

We acknowledge our organizations’ histories as being predominantly white institutions. We are facing uncomfortable truths about systemic racism as we work to make the deep changes necessary to transform the organizational dynamics in our work culture and business practices and dismantle existing oppressive structures. We know there will be shortcomings, which we will face head on. We commit to continually addressing and adapting to changes as they arise. It is only in an improved, supportive work environment that everyone can be fully present, and respected as their true authentic selves.

Together we stand with UCLA’s School of Art and Architecture’s EDI statement.
